SOUND FOUNDATIONS

Dear Friends,

An article which I recently read highlighted the importance of foundations when you are seeking to build something.

This guy had decided to build an extension/conservatory onto his house, he had obtained the correct planning permission, worked out his materials needed and had them delivered to his property, even the weather was smiling upon his endeavour, so far.....

Work then commenced with a digger on site, when after 40 mins or so the ground opened up and the digger fell into a huge hole!!

Consternation all round ensued as to how this was possible, no one knew that there was the remains of an old Anderson shelter from the 2nd World War lurking there minding its own business !!

Foundations are important to us, Jesus demonstrated this in the gospel of Matthew chapter 7 regarding the wise man who built his house upon the rock, I got to musing about this when watching the Coronation service of King Charles and Queen Camilla recently and how our new King and Queen have a solid foundation to build on after our late Queen Elizabeth II's reign.

What we build upon truly matters, the Bible describes Jesus as the Chief Cornerstone upon which Christians build their lives, he is we are told a sure foundation, whatever storms of life come our way we are able to stand through his love and grace.

There are some 60 working lighthouses dotted around the British Isles some built on headlands, some built upon rocks many miles out to sea such as Eddystone, and Bell rock, they endure fearsome storms at all times of the year.

They remain guiding and guarding because they are founded on rocks which cannot move, I wonder if we today are 'grounded firm and deep in the saviours love'?

In these challenging post covid times of moving and shifting values, of changing norms and bewildering digital technology, we need to be sure of our foundational living, Psalm 62:2 tells us 'from the ends of the earth will I cry to you, when my heart is overwhelmed :lead me to the rock which is higher than I'

THE MEMO COMMITTEE NEEDS YOUR HELP

We need to expand our committee to spread an increasing load on a small number of committee members & are looking for help in the following areas:

- Community Advert Coordinator

If you, or someone you know, think you may be able to volunteer help then get in touch (or encourage them to) and we'll happily provide more info. We'll feature more details on the roles next month.

Contact Chris 01768 881015 or email: chris.midedenmemo@gmail.com

Culgaith Village Hall

Thank you to all those who completed the survey for the village hall. Of 265 surveys sent out 40 were returned, so one in seven households which is about average for a community survey. The top 5 activities chosen from the survey were Community Shop, Fitness, Talks, Bingo and Table Tennis. We now need to turn these ideas into activities.

In July's MEMO there should be more details of what is going to be organised.

One event already in place, on 18th, 19th July the hall is hosting a Canine and Feline first aid course.

If you would like to know about anything mentioned above then email culgaithhallbookings@gmail.com or telephone Jacqui 0777 2205 776

How Langwathby Began

It began as a part of the empty woods between the fells and the Eden. A few people had lived hereabouts already, such as the person buried in the Kist (stone box) tomb's mound now called Robin Hood, on the Langwathby side of Briggle Beck, just east of the footpath to Winskill. But the first group of settlers were Norsemen, farmers come from Ireland (land-shortage there) in small boats coming up the river. The woods were hard to travel in and full of hostile wildlife, such as wolves. How do we know this? From the placename 'Langwathby' which is Old Norse for farm-village next to the long ford. The ford is still there. It is a diagonal ford, long indeed, to the path up to Edenhall School.

The original village will have been at the ford's north end; not a big place (far fewer lived in England then). The old road descends the grassy field to it, in the hollow there. Until the bridge came in the late 17th century, this was the crossing place. There will have been an inn, for those using the ford, before or after their experiences in it.

But the peace and expansion and warm climate all came to an abrupt end in the early 14th century. The climate had become cold, dull, and wet. Edward I's attempts to add Scotland to his realm provoked the Scot's reprisals, for which the Eden Valley was a favourite route. Villages like Langwathby found themselves exposed to raiders. Dufton had the same problem (it was originally just East of Pusgill House near Dufton Pike) and hit on the same solution. Each village moved to a new defensible, its points of entry narrow and blockable, its green convertible to a cage for its livestock. In Langwathby's case, this was 200 yards north-west, on what may have been the common, and done by mutual consent or by order of the Lord of the Manor, who was by now the King (until circa 1300, since the 1240's it had been the King of Scots). Eden Straits is one of the narrow entries (strait means narrow). The church was included in the new village's layout. Langwathby's first written mention is in 1159 (tax-roll).

Edenhall's first written mention is in that year, too, in the tax-roll in London. Its placename shows that its first settlers were Anglos; they spoke Old English. Up the hill to south was the hamlet of Dolphenby, named after its original chief, one Dolfin, a Scandinavian. Its first written record is in the tax-roll (royal) of 1202, when the chief's name was Gilbert, an Anglican. Edenhall means village in the hollow near the Eden, in the dip between the church and the Hall. Later the Musgraves transported it to where it is now, circa 1680's.
