MidEdenMemo

I always feel like January is the longest month of the year even though it has the same number of days as other months. The end of the year is full of festivals starting with the Harvest festivals that some of our churches celebrate, followed by Halloween and Bonfire Night and of course, the month-long celebration of Christmas full of lights and decorations and parties and food. And then we're thrown into the darkness and the cold and the damp to try to better ourselves by going on a diet or joining a gym or something in January. The shortest day of the year has been and gone on the 21st December, so the days are getting longer, but not nearly quick enough, and it doesn't really get warmer, with snow off a threat.

But once we make it through January, we hit February and things start to look up. We can celebrate once again, with Valentine's Day, Pancake/Shrove Tuesday and Ash Wednesday. The days are definitely getting longer now, and hopefully warmer, though we can still be snowed in, sometimes the earliest signs of spring start to show. The world seems to be waking up again from its slumber and we can begin to really look forward to what the rest of the year has to offer. I really love to be able to see the colours that start to appear as spring approaches. There's a lot to be thankful for at this time of year, so make sure to take the time to appreciate it!

MEMO NEEDS HELP WITH CREATING ATTRACTIVE ADVERTS.

Can you use Microsoft Word? We need someone who is able to use Word, or is happy to learn, and can offer 2 or 3 weekends of their time to compose editions of MEMO.

It's very satisfying, transforming advertisers' words into an attractive notice, adding clipart, formatting, and borders and then seeing it in print.

There are guidelines to help you but also plenty of opportunities for you to be creative if you want to be.

If you are interested, send us an email and we'll get back to you for a chat with no obligation.

What's in a Name?

Gamblesby was Gamelsby till the 1570s, as the Gamelsby near Wigton still is. It first appears as Gamelesby in 1177 and had belonged to Gamel, son of Bern, freeholders of the King, in 1130. Bern is probably the local version of the Old Norse name Bjorn. Gamel is the Old Norse nickname "Old Fella", common in the Baltic and Norse Ireland. Glassonby ("Glasson's farm", Old Norse) also belonged to the King's freeholder Glasson then.

Henry 1 took these lands (formerly theirs) and gave them to Hildred of Carlisle. "Gave" is what the deed says, but in practice Hildred will have paid a good sum for them.

Unthank had arisen just north of Gamblesby, by 1254. The name is Old English for a piece of land settled by squatters after an argument with the lord of the manor. They stayed put and he saw the chance to boost his income from adding them to his manor tenants. They will originally have been young lads of Gamblesby for whom there was no farmland, the village having expanded in the peace and stability of the 12th – 13th centuries. The weather was drier and warmer then. They went a little north and broke out on their own, still near parents etc, back home in Gamblesby.

Unthank was near the old main road (north to south route) from Brampton to Appleby, known as Appleby Street. Parts of it survive still, mostly as tracks only.

Thanks to Jeremy Godwin
